

The Vermont Judiciary's Next Generation Case Management System: Our Platform for Transformation

April 8, 2015 8:30am

Honorable Paul L. Reiber, Chief Justice, Vermont Supreme Court
Patricia Gabel, Esq., State Court Administrator
Jeff Loewer, Chief Information Officer, Vermont Judiciary
Steve Prisoc, Chief Information Officer (Retired), New Mexico State Courts
Sean Thomson, Manager of Applications, Vermont Judiciary

Agenda:

1. Introduction
2. Our initial business case
 - a. Background of Case Management Systems at the Judiciary
 - b. Fulfilling our strategic goals through the transformation of our business model
 - c. Gaining capacity and agility through flexibility and efficiency
 - d. The risks of doing nothing
3. What will we do to ensure the success of this initiative?
 - a. Focus on organizational and business process transformation
 - b. Rigorous project planning and governance
 - c. Risks in implementation
4. What is a CMS? Court Case Management Systems defined
 - a. Benefits to court stakeholders
 - b. Typical performance metrics for CMS
 - c. Scope of CMS at the Vermont Judiciary
 - i. One system for our unified court
 - ii. The Judiciary as a central hub for information
5. CMS at the New Mexico Courts
 - a. Success factors in New Mexico's multi-year implementation
6. How do other states pay for CMS?
 - a. Example funding scenarios
7. High-level cost estimates for the Vermont Judiciary
8. Questions and answers
9. Next steps and conclusion

Jeff Loewer
Chief Information Officer
Vermont Judiciary

April 1, 2015