Attorney Norman Watts of Woodstock, VT; check bouncing loser

The state of Vermont presented Norman E. Watts with a law license in 1987 after he graduated from the Vermont School of Law.

The Vermont Bar Court found Norm guilty of the following misconduct.

- Wrote one or more checks on insufficient funds account (rubber)
- Commingled client funds with personal funds
- Failed to comply with all trust account rules
- Misconduct involved multiple offenses
- Improperly used funds of one client to carry out the business of one or more clients

As a consequence of his misconduct, the enablers for Attorney Misfits sitting on the Bar Court punished Norm by gifting him with a complimentary reprimand.

As one would suspect, Norm fails to mention the misconduct set forth above on his self-serving website at www.wattslawvt.com. Apparently, Norm decided to conceal this relevant information from prospective clients so that it would not limit their future victim pool.
