For any real estate, include the type of deed, grantor(s) and grantee(s), date of execution, the book, page, number and town.

You may employ an appraiser if necessary. If so, list the name and address of each appraiser, and indicate which items have been appraised.

You must specify with respect to each item all liens and encumbrances which exist and the type and amount of the lien or encumbrance, including the date, book and page number. You must also serve a copy of this inventory on all persons entitled to notice in this proceeding. If any further property comes to your possession or knowledge, or if you discover that the description or value of any item listed in this inventory is erroneous or misleading, you must make a supplemental inventory, file it with the court, and serve all persons entitled to notice.
